

Boards & Commission

Established by Municipal Charter or Municipal Code, boards and commissions are composed of local residents who volunteer their time and expertise to serve the Municipality of Anchorage and promote the public good. Municipal boards and commissions cover a variety of local topics of interest and can be a great resume builder. Terms are 3-years unless otherwise specified.

Anchorage Municipal Code divides boards and commissions into the following categories

Service Area Supervisory Boards

Serve a specific geographical area to oversee local road, fire or recreational services. Members of these boards are elected by their community and must be residents of the service area they represent.

Regulatory and Adjudicatory Boards and Commissions

Establish standards, grant waivers, and in some cases impose fines to enforce standards.

Program Advisory Boards

Advise the Mayor and the Assembly on particular community programs and needs.
